

LAMP Human Resources

The Light at the End of the Tunnel

LAMP Human Resources (HR) module facilitates management of the most valuable resource of any organization - its workforce. Here, you can manage all your employee information and provide collaborative workflows that facilitate approval processes and transactions.

Human Resources Features

Repository of employee information

It is essential to account for each and every employee in a company. HR employee provides vital information about each employee. Here, personal details of the employees are specified including their employment status and role assignment.

Position assignment flexibility

Each position may be a part of several groups within the organization. Using positions, you can specify the level of employees for specific groups allowing you to rank them from the highest to the lowest position.

Approval hierarchy workflow support

Approval Hierarchy is directly integrated with LAMP workflow to identify the approving officers per group. The approving officers are ranked according to their position in the group.

Benefits of using Human Resources

- Facilitates recording of employees' information
- Creation of customizable approval hierarchy based on position
- Provides additional control in accessing other lamp modules with the use of roles
